Refund Policy

30-day trials (full version) are available for all products. Up to two evaluation extensions can be provided upon request. The software can be downloaded from our website: www.pjtec.com. Complete online documentation is included. During your trial period, our support staff is available to assist in the installation and configuration via email, and if necessary, limited telephone support is offered (in addition to our variety of online support options).

Customers are encouraged to fully evaluate the software prior to purchasing it. All sales are final upon issuance of a registered license key (activation code). Once this information has been sent to you, the purchase is non-refundable. In the unlikely event of accidental duplicate purchase, the extra charge can be voided or refunded. Refunds are granted only for accidental re-purchase.

Please send any questions regarding our refund policy to Sales@pjtec.com.
